Greetings St. Anselm Families,

I hope you are doing well and enjoying the summer-like weather! Things are very busy around St. Anselm as we prepare for the fair and the end of the year.

This week marks the half way point of quarter 4. Progress Reports can be checked on PowerSchool this weekend. After this week, the students have roughly three weeks to finalize their grades. If you have any questions, please reach out to the teachers. Their emails are listed on the website.

I am in and out of classrooms for the final weeks of school. I will see every grade level/every subject. I'm very impressed with the information that the students have covered and mastered this school year. They know how to work in groups, help each other with work in all classes, participate respectfully and responsibly, and think outside of the box. I know that at times, Catholic education is more rigorous. Our grading scale is harder and our students definitely take more homework home each night. I am also a product of Catholic School. I appreciated it while I was there, but I wholeheartedly respected it when I went to college. I knew how to be dedicated, persevere through the hard days of midterms and finals, and I knew how to time manage. I promise that the sacrifice is worth it and your student(s) will thank you when they are leaps and bounds ahead in their courses.

In addition to the academics, I often thank my parents for the gift of faith. I pray before everything I do. We do that at school as well. Because of my Catholic education, I lean on God when I am frustrated or need help, and I see our students at St. Anselm do that, too. Thank you for your dedication to your student(s) and to St. Anselm Parish and School.

We will celebrate May Crowning on Monday, May 7 at 1:00. We wish congratulations to Bianca Marcon and Savannah Fish who are bearing Mary's crown and crowning Mary at the service. All of our eighth grade girls are serving as Mary's court and will be reading at the service. Eighth graders, Elijah Jorgensen, Anthony Mical, and Aidan Shriver will be reading at the service, and our fourth and second graders will be processing in, in their sacrament attire.

Here is the dress code for Monday:

Eighth Grade Girls: May Crowning Dresses (Modest; nothing too revealing. Dresses should be appropriate, knee length, nothing low cut, preferably in Spring colors (pastel or white))

Eighth Grade and Fourth Grade Boys: Dress shirts and ties, polo shirts, and dress slacks

Second Grade Girls: Communion Dresses (girls can change at lunch, uniforms can be worn for the first half of the day)

Second Grade Boys: Communion Suits

Preschool, Kindergarten, First Grade, Third Grade, Fifth Grade, Sixth Grade, and Seventh Grade Boys and Girls: Regular Uniform

* If your student is dressing up and would like to change at lunch, they are welcome to wear their uniform and bring their dress clothing to change into.

All family and friends are welcome to attend the service. We hope to see you at 1:00!

I wish you a wonderful weekend! Congratulations to our second graders, who will make their First Holy Communion on Saturday at 11:00. God Bless our students!

Mrs. Angela Kraetke
