

Stag-gering News

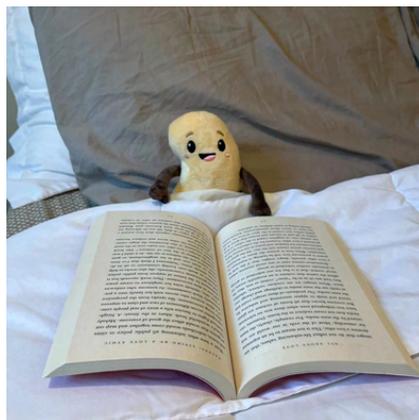

Welcome Back

I hope that you all had a great Christmas and New Year. Patty and I were overwhelmed by the generosity shown to us, and we sincerely appreciated all of the thoughtful gifts and goodies.

I was really proud of our students as they worked through how tired they were for the first few days.

Thank you all for your response for the request for the new lunch forms. Your cooperation made the transition to this new program much easier.

Please mark your calendars: No school on Monday, January 19.

BeanStack January Challenge

Reading is a skill that will benefit our students for the rest of their lives. To encourage them to continue to read more, we will be doing a series of challenges in January. Each week, starting on January 9th, we will be rewarding the top readers with prizes which may include free dress passes, Candy Bars, ect. At the end of the month, the winning classroom will get a pizza/movie party and free dress for the day of the party.

Attendance Emails

If you receive an attendance email from Mr. Owens, please know that the email is automatically generated. We completely understand that life happens and that students will be absent or tardy. We even encourage that, if your child is truly ill, that you keep them home. It is however required by law that our attendance accurately documents when your child is here.

Lunch Volunteers Needed

Let me begin by saying that I know this is a big ask. As a parent myself, I completely understand how difficult it can be to step away in the middle of the day—especially since I've never met a working parent who isn't busy.

That said, increasing the number of recess and lunch volunteers would give us the opportunity to add more flexibility and enrichment to what we are able to offer our students.

For example, several of our middle school students have learned that I was previously a middle school math teacher and have expressed interest in receiving extra support once a week during lunch or recess.

With additional volunteers, opportunities like this could become possible.
